To whom it may concern:

FHI has been doing business with EPA (Environmental Products Application) for over 15 years. They have applied a variety of products to more than 10,000 acres of land for FHI. At no time has EPA ever had a safety issue or a problem with following the strict safety rules set down for them. At no time during their service with FHI have they had any safety issues or recordable accidents. We have found that they conduct themselves in a safe, professional manner at all times during their work for FHI.
